A Chance to Invest Your Savings.

The Wrangell Electric Light and Power Co. have effected an organization. E. H. Lyons has been elected Manager, L. J. Cole, Treasurer and Lauros Milligan, Secretary. The necessary legal steps have been taken to incorporate and the incorporation will be perfected at an early date.

The Company will incorporate for $5,000, and this is to be divided into 200 shares of $25 each. Over one-half of the stock has already been subscribed, and the remainder is offered for sale. The terms of subscription are one-fourth in cash at the time of subscribing, and the remainder in three monthly installments. The cost of operating the plant will be reduced to a minimum. Until the demands of the business make it absolutely necessary for more help, one man has agreed to do all the engineering and electrical work. The plant is located where fuel may be had at the lowest possible figure, and everything points to a good dividend from the beginning. The Company is only allowed to run in debt to half the value of the plant. Watering stock is prohibited by its franchise, and there is no reason why this stock should not be a gilt-edged investment from the first. Your subscriptions for stock may be handed to any of the officers named above.

"A Fifty" for Five Years' Living.
 Colombo, Ceylon, Jan. 10, 1905.
 Friend Bob Reid:—I am going to Thibit, in Central Asia, to prospect for diamonds. If Mrs. Clark comes to Wrangell and should want a fifty, let her have it and I will pay you. If I strike it rich I will be in Wrangell in about 5 years. If Thibit is no good, I will be in Wrangell next summer. My best wishes to Mrs. Reid and yourself. Your old friend
 GEORGE CLARK.

Probably the rascal don't imagine the additional contempt this note brought down on his head.

APPROPRIATION.—Mr. Snyder: I ask you to please insert in your paper from me my most sincere thanks to all my Wrangell friends for the kind favor and sympathy they have extended to me, which I shall always retain in memory for the good people of Wrangell.

Rangwald Svendsen, at 150 pounds, is every inch a good man; but against Albert Cuthare at 205 pounds he was over-matched in the glove contest Saturday evening. For eight or nine rounds in the presence of a large crowd, some good sparring and lively slugging was done; but just before the end of the eighth round the big fellow landed on Svendsen's neck, and he was counted out before rising. Some good preliminary work was done by Charley Lynch and Louie Olsen and Mike Lynch and Charley Olsen. Jesse Crowell and Frank Halpin acted as referee and timekeeper.

According to weather observer Sharick at Juneau, the average temperature in Southeastern Alaska for 77 days—31 days of December, 31 days of January and 15 days of February—has been 41 degrees above. Highest, 52; lowest, 14.

Commissioner Thomas has returned home from Juneau, where he went to hear the motion of Mains alais Ball for bail. The bail was not granted and the accused will remain in jail to await his trial.

This Space is reserved for the announcement of the Annual Declaration and Recitation Contest, to be given by the Public School, some time in March.

It seems from reports that the name of the murderer of Wm. Depp is not Robert Ball, only an alias. His name is Charles R. Mains, and is a mighty hard character. In Michigan he was employed in various nefarious schemes, and when about to be run down, employed another crook to assist him in the murder of an important witness against him. But his pal gave him away and he was arrested by the jury acquitted him. Later he turned up in San Francisco, and for transacting wildcat schemes through the mails he was sent to jail for six months. After this he came to Seattle under the name of Robert Ball and from that time to the present his life has been pretty well known. Mains was a lawyer, but was disbarred in Michigan for crookedness. These facts we learn from the Seattle times of the 13th inst.

Things are assuming quite a different aspect down about the mill, under the management of receiver Davidson. The office has been "born again," and with a neat coat of paint and things put in their proper place, it is now presentable. Last week the boilers were thoroughly tested by Fred Stevens, of the Union Iron Works, Juneau, formerly master mechanic for the White Pass Co. and one of the most competent mechanics in the country, and no flaws were found and the boilers will safely carry 100 pounds of steam. If the weather will permit, Mr. Davidson hopes to have the mill in operation by the 15th of next month.

The first delinquent tax sale to occur at Wrangell, came off on the 16th, and the property sold, the amount of tax and the purchasers were as follows: G. H. Barnes, $9.45; Robert Reid; Ed F. Barnes, $1.60; Al Osborne; Angus Duncan, 30c; Dr. Green; O. Goetz, 30c; A. V. R. Snyder, L. Jackson, 80c; Alex. Vreut, Gus Johnson, $1.05; C.W. Jackson; John Schier, 90c; Dr. Green; Mrs. Tak, 30c; J. E. Worken; L. H. Wakefield, (two pieces) $3.35; Robert Reid. This cleaned up the roll for 1904. We learn that the George Barnes property was redeemed later.

A letter from Roy Tait to Claire Snyder says he is all right and has a good home at San Pedro, Calif. Roy will not go to sea next season, but will have charge of a big engine in a new sawmill at that place.

The Church Muddle.

Wrangell, Alaska, Feb. 8, 1905.
 Rev. H. P. Corser and People—Greeting:—Through a letter from Dr. C. L. Thompson, secretary of the Home Mission Board, I am informed that you have asked the Board with reference to the Church work here: "Is there any hope of a compromise?" While the Board has given you a general answer regarding its purpose in Wrangell, the detail of such arrangements as you propose and the Board would make, has been committed to me, subject to approval of course.

During the several months of my residence here I have learned something of strength and temper of the religious life of the people. Prior to my reception of the letter from Dr. Thompson informing me of your proposition with a view and hope of uniting the religious work, thinking that an opportunity might soon occur for submitting the same for consideration. While I was undecided as to what initiative to take, the way has been opened up, I feel, by your letter to the Board.

It must be evident to all that one church for the natives and one for the white people, would be ample in this community for present needs. If this condition could be brought about, it would add much to the interest and encouragement of the work. Constructive work must look to the future. In the interests of fraternal concord, in the better care and instruction of the children, in the religious welfare of the town and for the honor of Christianity, cannot the past be buried and with mutual concessions some agreement be reached by which the future shall be more fruitful of good? Representing, therefore, the Board and the Presbyterian Church, allow me to make the following proposition as a basis to open up negotiations:

First. That I will have the Presbyterian church, manse and fencing thoroughly repaired. Then carrying out the original purpose, make the old church exclusively a native church. It was organized for them, the building, in part, represents their labor, while to many of them the place is endeared by not a few associations.

Second. That, by taking the edifice of the Peoples' Church, having an entirely separate organization for the white people, it might be that the natives who have contributed toward the erection of that building would accept the old church repaired as ample for what they would relinquish in the new building, or some plan be devised that would be agreeable to all concerned. One thing is sure, some satisfactory agreement of the buildings could be reached if first there was a willingness on the part of the people. It should be understood from the first that persons of mixed blood, who speak the English language, will be received into membership in the white church.

Third. That the Board of Missions guarantee the financial support of the minister who would serve the congregation for the present. This would give a good and separate house for each congregation, and a manse for the minister. Fourth. That, respecting a minister, Mr. Corser and Mr. Kirk each select three of his people, and the six thus selected meet with them in joint session to devise and recommend a course of action for approval. These suggestions I beg leave to present with the view that they be considered by each party separately but at the same hour, so that neither will be influenced by the action of the other. I submit them in the spirit of fairness, and ask that they be considered in the same spirit, and the conclusion reached be communicated to the other. Respectfully and sincerely submitted,
 JAMES WOLLASTON KIRK.

REPLY.
 Wrangell, Alaska, Feb. 13, 1905.
 At a meeting of the Trustees of the Peoples' Church, the following conclusions were arrived at:

First. The Natives belonging to and associated with the Peoples' Church, do not desire, nor will they entertain for a moment, the proposition to leave it and go to the old church—the Presbyterian Church.
 Second. As the Peoples' Church represents, to a large extent, the money and labor of the Natives, having been started by them with the understanding that it was to be their church, and they are both willing and pleased that the white people shall worship with them, as they have always done heretofore, and as they recognize no distinction of race or blood in Christ's Church, they are not willing to hand over the Peoples' church to the white people exclusively.
 Third. We have no desire to make a change in our minister, even though the financial support of the Board be guaranteed. We expect to contribute to his support, and thus as members of the Presbyterian Church, claim a right to select our own minister.
 Fourth. It is a foregone conclusion that we could not agree upon any course of action looking to a change of minister, as the present one has stood by us always, and we recognize his unselfish and untiring efforts in behalf of the Peoples' Church.

We would be more than glad if, by some means, this strife, which is damaging to a fearful extent the cause of Christ and Presbyterianism in this town could be brought to an end. None of the proposed suggestions can accomplish this, as they seem to indicate the probability of a change of minister and Church Home. We are satisfied with our minister and with our Church Home. (Signed) E. I. Green, Chairman Board, L. R. Milligan, Sec; Donald Sinclair, Mary Arthur Willson, Pres. Ladies' Aid Society; Mrs. F. Wigg, vice-Pres. Ladies' Aid Society; Mr. F. Wigg.

In captivity elephants always stand up when they sleep, but when in the jungle, in their own land and home, they lie down. The reason given for the difference between the elephant in captivity and in freedom is that the animal never acquires complete confidence in his keepers and always longs for liberty.

The crew of the whaler Lara Hansen saw, according to the Indianapolis News, frozen in a monster iceberg a female polar bear and two cubs, the cubs nestling against the mother. The berg stood out of the water fully 100 feet and the ice wherein the bears were entombed was clear as a crystal. How long the animals had been locked in their winter palace is a matter of conjecture, but they were at least 25 feet above the water.

A trial was recently made in Austria to decide in how short a time living trees could be converted into newspapers. At Elsenthal, at 7:35 in the morning, three trees were sawn down; at 9:30 the wood, having been stripped of bark, cut up, and converted into pulp, became paper, and passed from the factory to the press, whence the first printed and folded copy was issued at 10 o'clock. So that in 145 minutes the trees had become newspapers.

A well-known artist was once engaged upon a sacred picture, according to "Mainly About People." A very handsome old model named Smith sat for the head of St. Mark. Artist and model became great friends, but when the picture was finished they lost sight of one another. One day, however, the artist, wandering about the Zoological Gardens, came upon his old model, with a broom in his hand, looking very disconsolate. "Hello, Smith," said he; "you don't look very cheery. What are you doing now?" "Well, I ain't doin' much, sir, and that's a fact. I'm engaged in these 'ere gardens a-cleanin' out the heelpants' stables; a nice occupation for one of the twelve apostles, ain't it, sir?"

N-RAYS SHOULD BE PINK.

They Indicate a Good Life, Says Dr. Hooker.

The Lancet publishes a letter from Dr. Hooker on the results of three years' experiments with the Blondiot N-rays emitted by the human body. Dr. Hooker says he has established the fact that these rays differ in color according to the character and temperament of a person, and also that the rays are not merely heat vibrations, as he proved by passing rays from his own hand through the forearm of a corpse to a prepared screen which immediately showed increased luminosity. In reference to the differing colors of the rays, Dr. Hooker says:

"Rays emanating from a very passionate man have a deep red hue. One whose keynote in life is to be good and to do good, throws off pink rays; an ambitious man emits orange rays; a deep thinker throws off deep blue; a lover of art and refined surroundings, yellow; an anxious, depressed person, gray; one who leads a low, debased life, muddy brown rays; a devoted, good meaning person, light blue; progressive minded, light green, and physically or mentally ill person, dark green rays."

Dr. Hooker admits that his statement may be received at first with a smile of incredulity, but he is confident it will sooner or later be accepted as a fact. He further says he has proved that N-rays are not only given off by the human body, but by objects which have been in contact therewith. He obtained this impression from a letter thirty years old, which proved that the rays are radioactive and retain their power on the paper on which writing is made.—London Cable to the New York Sun.

Perfumes as Disinfectants.

It is a well-known fact that workers among lavender beds seldom take infectious ailments and those engaged in the perfume trade are singularly free from them. A good perfume in the old days was considered an excellent disinfectant. The doctors then used to carry walking sticks with silver or gold knobs. These opened with a lid, disclosing a tiny vinaigrette box, which the physician held to his nose when entering rooms containing patients ill with any infectious disease.

FADER NISSEN.

Fader Nissen, who sacrificed his life in an attempt to roll across Lake Michigan in a strange craft of his own invention, had a record for deeds of daring. In 1900 he twice shot the rapids of Niagara Falls in boats of his own make, and had succeeded in the adventure which cost his life his purpose was to make an attempt to reach the north pole.

Nissen was born in Denmark forty-three years ago, but came to this country while a youth and was educated here. He was the inventor of a number of novelties and labor-saving devices, and once conducted a business college in Chicago. He was a graduate of the Indiana State Normal College at Valparaiso.

For over fifteen years I have suffered more or less from Impure Blood. About a year ago I had a boil appear on my leg below the knee, which was followed by three more on my neck. I saw S. S. S. advertised and decided to try it. After taking three bottles all Boils disappeared and I have not been troubled any since. Geo. G. FERTIG, 114 W. Jefferson St., Louisville, Ky.

Newark, Ohio, May 23, 1903. From childhood I had been bothered with bad blood, skin eruptions and boils. I had boils ranging from five to twenty in number each season. The burning accompanying the eruption was terrible. S. S. S. seemed to be just the medicine needed in my case. It drove out all impurities and bad blood, giving me permanent relief from the skin eruption and boils. This has been ten years ago, and I have never had a return of the disease. Mrs. J. D. A Little Lesson In Patriotism

T. MAC DONOUGH.

Thomas MacDonough, the hero of the battle of Lake Champlain, won his first laurels in the service of his country in active duty in connection with the Tripolitan war of 1804, when he was one of the adventurous sailors in the affair with Decatur and Lawrence, who engaged in the burning of the Philadelphia in the harbor. It was for his valiant service in the discharge of his duty in the Mediterranean that MacDonough was intrusted with the defenses of Lake Champlain in the war of 1812.

The British force on the lake outnumbered the American both in guns and vessels. On the 11th of August, 1814, in the battle of Plattsburg, MacDonough distinguished himself not only for his success of command, but also for personal bravery in the face of overwhelming odds.

In the battle off Cumberland Head his vessel, the Saratoga, met and defeated an English vessel of double her tonnage and number of guns. Most men would have believed that without a single gun on one side engaged, a fourth of his men cut down, and the ship already a wreck, enough injury had been done to make submission inevitable. But MacDonough found a means to secure a victory in the desperate condition of his own ship.

The result of MacDonough's valor was the clearing of this lake region of the British forces, which did much to end the war. With Perry and Decatur and Porter, MacDonough is deserving of all the honor that a grateful country can render to her loyal sons.

AMERICANS IN MEXICO.

Capital and Special Training Required of Them There.

To the young man whose eyes are turning toward Mexico as a country presenting great opportunities for acquiring wealth without capital or special training the information embodied in a recent report of our consul at Mexico City should be timely and valuable.

Much that is in this consular report has been said before, but it will bear frequent reiteration, because of the singular tendencies of Americans to regard Mexico as a promising land for the pioneer. The type of pioneer who opened up the Western country for settlement is likely to fail in Mexico, for the reason that the country is already fairly well settled, and development of its resources calls for capital and special technical training.

The consular report warns Americans of the dangers and losses attending an indiscriminate emigration, such as blazed the way for civilization in our Western country. There is room only for men with capital or technical knowledge, or both. If one is not possessed of expert technical knowledge or ability in the industries that flourish in Mexico, one must be able to secure the services of men who are so equipped. Capital will not extract wealth from the natural resources of Mexico unless it can command the services of the trained mining engineer, the trained architect, the trained veterinarian, the skilled agriculturist. In addition to technical skill, or the ability to employ it, the report urges a speaking knowledge of the Spanish language, without which the chances of success, it declares, are exceedingly small.

The report warns young men against taking any stock in the stories about the "easy-going methods of Mexico." The strain of the climate and the tussle with the elements severely tax the energy and strength. For the man of great physical energy, who knows how to take care of himself, and who possesses capital or technical ability, there are great opportunities for making money in Mexico.—Opportunity.

A Family of Clergymen.

The Clare family of Abbotstown, Adams county, probably holds the record in Pennsylvania for the largest number of clergymen in one family. At the meeting of the West Pennsylvania Lutheran synod Martin L. Clare was licensed to preach, making the fourth member of that family to enter the ministry, the others being Rev. R. L. Clare, pastor of the Lutheran Congregational at East Berlin and Abbotstown; Rev. Harry Clare of Philadelphia and Rev. Robert Clare of New York.

It Is All Off.

"What's the matter?" inquired Ascum. "What are you searching your pockets for?" "I tied a knot in my handkerchief this morning," said the absent-minded man, "to remind me of something I was to get for my wife. And now I can't find the handkerchief!"—Philadelphia Press.

QUEER THINGS TO EAT.

What Was Served at the Table of a London Epicure.

Here is a typical insect menu, of which no one need be afraid to partake, since every item has been known and esteemed by insect eaters for generations past. It was served, not long ago, according to Pearson's Weekly, at the table of a rich London epicure, who is also an enthusiastic advocate of an insectarian dietary: Green caterpillar soup, fried locust with woodhouse sauce, curried cockchafer, wasp grubs baked in the comb, stag beetle larvae on toast, moths baked in batter, deviled wireworms, grasshoppers "au gratin."

The green caterpillars that compose the soup feed entirely upon vegetables, and mostly upon particular vegetables most relished by man, such as cabbages and lettuce.

In appearance the soup itself is not unlike clear turtle, while its flavor is delicious.

The locusts, which constitute the second course, have, as every one is aware, been esteemed by gourmets the world over, and from the remotest antiquity. "Eat ye the locust after his kind," was the biblical injunction; and John the Baptist is recorded as having lived for some considerable time upon "locusts and wild honey."

There are, of course, many ways of preparing them. They can be fried, after their legs and wings have been plucked off, which was, as a matter of fact, the process adopted in this particular instance. Or they may be powdered and baked into cakes, or curried, or boiled, turning red, like lobsters, in the process.

The woodhouse sauce, if properly made with fresh butter, flour, milk, pepper and salt, will be found fully equal to shrimp, which it much resembles in taste. Indeed, the woodhouse, although he lives on land, is first cousin to that much relished crustacean.

Cockchafers, curried or otherwise, are delicious if selected of a serviceable size and plumpness. So, too, are their grubs, when full grown. They should then be at least two inches in length and fat in proportion, and may be eaten uncooked, like oysters, or stewed in milk.

Perhaps, however, the most toothsome of all insect delicacies is that which comes forth on our "menu of the day"—wasp grubs baked in the comb. These grubs have been fed by their parents on a saccharine fluid composed of fruit and vegetable juices and are simply tiny balls of sugary fat, possessing a flavor as exquisite as it is unique. No one who has once tasted them will ever again be surprised at the preference shown by fish for this particular grub when used as a bait.

The stag beetle larva is, of course, identical with the cossus, which the old Roman epicures used to fatten for their tables upon flour and wine. The sixth course should be served steaming hot, since there is no more appetizing odor than that emanating from a plump baked moth.

Deviled wireworms are eaten in the form of a paste, spread upon slippers of toast, and taste not unlike anchovies when treated in similar fashion.

GOLDEN COLLAR LAID ASIDE.

Aguinaldo Is Now Cultivating Rice and Potatoes.

Col. William F. Scott, who is in the United States on leave of absence from the Philippines, was interviewed at Kansas City the other day, when he made an interesting statement concerning Aguinaldo. It appears that the former leader of our island wards has gone out of the business of rebellion, or patriotism, or whatever they call it over there, and turned his attention to the propagation of the potato and the production of hemp and rice. The dauntless warrior who made it necessary for Funston to swim a river with his sword in his teeth, has apparently put away ambition, along with the golden collar, the silver stick and other emblems of sovereignty which he had specifically constructed for him while Dewey was sitting over there waiting for the cable to be mended. Col. Scott says of the former leader of our little brown brothers:

"He apparently has no means and is practically living off his relatives. Rosario, a Filipino whom Aguinaldo befriended at one time during the struggle between the United States and the 'insurrectos,' perhaps contributes more to Aguinaldo's support than any one else. It was supposed, you know, that Aguinaldo had taken large sums of money that had been collected to aid the Filipinos in their struggle, but I happen to know that he is as poor as a church mouse. He has a small farm near Cavite, not far from Manila, which he is farming. He goes about without any of the fear of assassination that possessed him for some time after his capture. He is indeed a de-throned leader."

LAUGHED AT WRONG TIME.

Man Who Fell Down Simply Had to Fight to Keep His Dignity.

Because one man falls down and another man laughs at it is no reason why the former should whip the latter, and yet that is exactly what happened on San Francisco street the other afternoon. And, furthermore, it may be stated that the kicking was administered in the most approved style, though both combatants subsequently found themselves in the calaboose. It happened because it had rained and the asphalt was unusually slippery. Otherwise black eyes and bruises for two would have been avoided.

Along came a cagador staggering under a heavy load held on his back by the head strap. His jig-jog trot was perfect, and he ambled along with the most serene indifference to weather conditions. But a catastrophe was in store. A quick turn to avoid an oncoming team caused him to miss a footstep. The next instant his heels were in the air and his head received a severe thump from the box, which had gone to the street and dragged his head with it. He extracted himself and looked on with a most pained expression of countenance—pained because of the shock administered to his dignity in falling. Then his eyes lighted on a bystander whose face was wreathed in smiles. Before the laugh could break forth, he had received a poke in the face which caused him to turn around several times as if to ascertain what struck him. When he found out, the fight was on in earnest. Both were fairly matched, and for ten minutes blows and blasphemy were about evenly divided. Then the cagador got his man down and was handing him a few about the region of the eyes when the gendarme appeared. The next minute both were headed for the station.—Mexican Herald.

The Pleasure of Old Age.

Free from the distractions of life, the aged are at leisure to observe and admire. "I never knew," said Cornaro, "that the world was beautiful until I reached old age." This period was frequently declared by him to be the most beautiful of his life. Writing at the age of 91, he said that he felt it his duty to make known to the world that man could attain to an earthly paradise after the age of 80; but only by means of the two virtues, self-restraint and temperance. At that time he was writing eight hours a day, walking and singing many other hours, enjoying the beauties of nature, and abundant in labors for the good of mankind.—Good Health.

SISTERS OF CHARITY

Uses Pe-ru-na for Coughs, Colds, Grip and Catarrh—A Congressman's Letter.

In every country of the civilized world Sisters of Charity are known. Not only do they minister to the spiritual and intellectual needs of the charges committed to their care, but they also minister to their bodily needs.

With so many children to take care of and to protect from climate and disease, these wise and prudent Sisters have found Peruna a never failing safeguard.

Dr. Hartman receives many letters from Catholic Sisters from all over the United States. A recommend recently received from a Catholic institution in Detroit, Mich., reads as follows:

Dr. S. B. Hartman, Columbus, Ohio: Dear Sir: "The young girl who used the Peruna was suffering from laryngitis and loss of voice. The result of the treatment was most satisfactory. She found great relief, and after further use of the medicine we hope to be able to say she is entirely cured."—Sisters of Charity.

The young girl was under the care of the Sisters of Charity and used Peruna for catarrh of the throat with good results as the above letter testifies.

The following letter is from Congressman Meekison, of Napoleon, Ohio:

The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, O.: Gentlemen: "I have used several bottles of Peruna and feel greatly benefited thereby from my catarrh of the head, and feel encouraged to believe that its continued use will fully eradicate a disease of thirty years' standing."—David Meekison.

Dr. Hartman, one of the best known physicians and surgeons in the United States, was the first man to formulate Peruna. It was through his genius and perseverance that it was introduced to the medical profession of this country.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

The crew of the whaler Lara Hansen saw, according to the Indianapolis News, frozen in a monster iceberg a female polar bear and two cubs, the cubs nestling against the mother. The berg stood out of the water fully 100 feet and the ice wherein the bears were entombed was clear as a crystal. How long the animals had been locked in their winter palace is a matter of conjecture, but they were at least 25 feet above the water.
